Description

I applied emphasis on the poster with the big, bold 'Go touch grass' as a way to grab readers' attention.

The constant green objects scattered around the green background showcases repetition.

There is also proportion with how the texts are neatly aligned to the left but also light balance between the text and the pictures so it does not seem to cramped.

Lastly, there is enough negative space to allow some breathing room between each section of the poster.
